Planting Instructions

About a week or ten days before planting; spade the ground well to loosen the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches; leaving it lay in the rough. Then broadcast about 7 lbs. of good potato fertilizer (5-8-7) over it; and rake this in. If soil is heavy, mix sand or coal ashes with your soil.

PLANT WHEN SOIL IS WARM AND DRY. WE PLANT ABOUT THE 20th OF MAY

Drive a stake in each hole to support the plant. Lay root flat with EYE UPWARD, and next to the stake. Plant tuber about 5 inches deep. Cover with 2 inches of fine soil; and, gradually fill the hole as the sprouts grow.

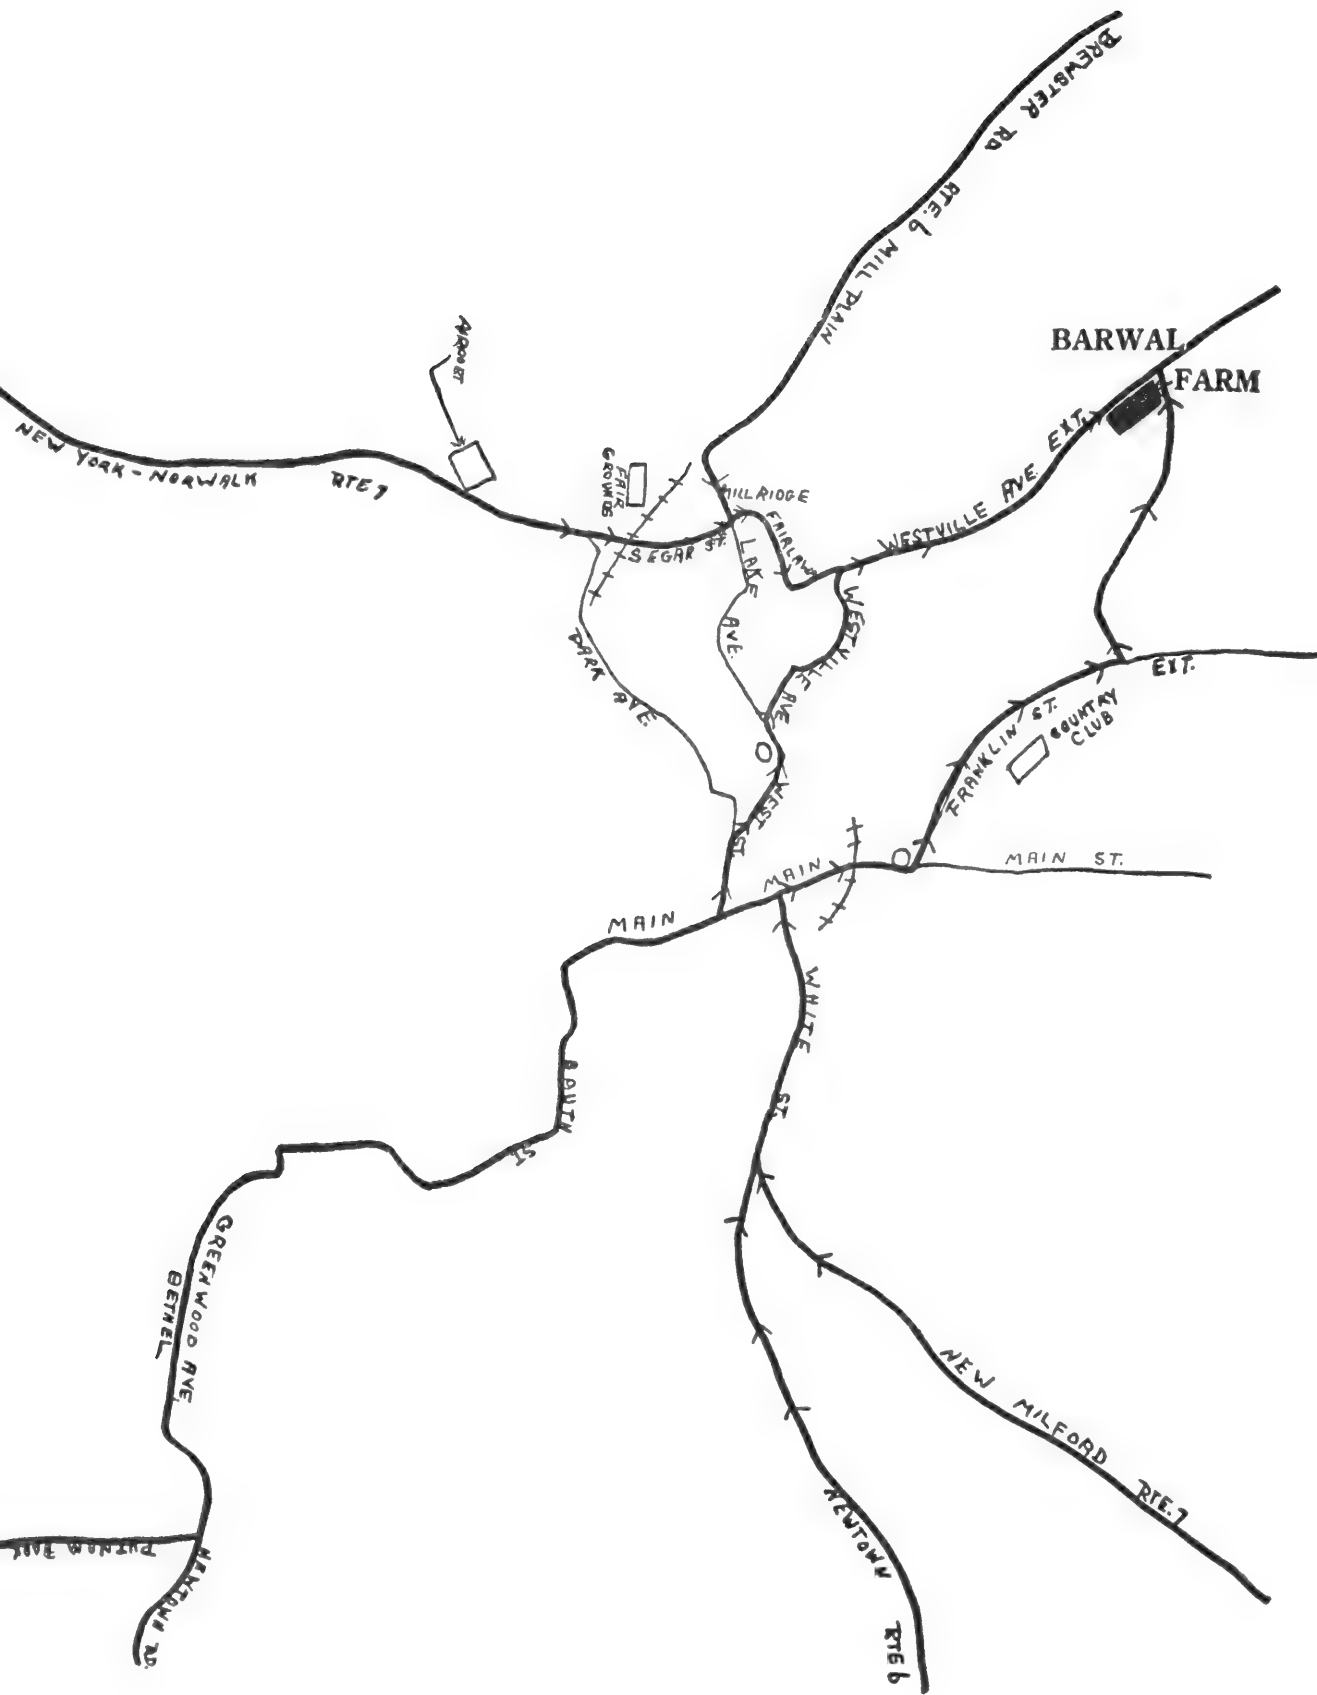

If one is using clumps of tubers from last year's garden; they will need dividing. This is done with a good sharp, stiff bladed knife. When cutting BE SURE TO LEAVE AN EYE (at the base of the old flower stem) with each division. These are then set out in the well prepared holes and cultivated the same as new tubers.

After plants are up and about a foot high; pinch out the center of the plant and tie loosely to the stake. This causes it to grow erect and also to branch out into a good plant. Cultivate well until buds appear. Keep soil well pulverized and we suggest cultivation about 24 hours after each rainfall. This keeps the soil from becoming caked and hard. We advise tying the LARGE FLOWERING AND CACTUS TYPES: Pompoms and Miniatures do not need staking and tying; but, they can be staked also if desired. When buds begin to appear on your plants; about the middle and latter part of August; we suggest you give them a final light dressing of fertilizer; about 4 lbs. to each ten hills; spreading it not more than 18 inches and not closer than 6 inches from the hill. Then give them their final soil cultivation. Use about one handful to each plant. DISCONTINUE ALL CULTIVATION AFTER THIS DATE.

Root Storage For The Winter

About 3 or 4 days after a black killing frost; select a sunny day. Cut the dahlia stalks off about 5 inches above the ground. With a spading fork; dig carefully around the clump about 10 inches from the center stalk. Lift carefully; as much damage can be done to roots at this time by twisting the necks of the bulbs. Take tag from stake and twist it around one of the tubers. Turn clump of roots over with stalk down on ground; allow to drain this way for about 4 hours. Pick up; and take into storage place. Pack into airtight wooden boxes or barrels lined with newspaper. Then put one layer of dahlia roots into container; cover well with a thick layer of newspaper; then dahlias, and then newspaper until they are all packed. Cover well with plenty of newspaper and store in a cool place in cellar. NOT NEAR A FURNACE. Look at them several times during the winter. If tubers seem to be drying or shriveling up, dampen paper and leave on top of open box for several days. Replace with dry paper and cover tightly. If mildew appears remove paper and let them air for several days before replacing with dry newspaper. Your roots should keep well with this treatment. About the middle of April to the first of May you may start cutting up your divisions for next year's planting. Wait until the eyes begin to show — it will make your cutting job much easier.

NOTICE — WE WILL NOT REPLACE ROOTS THAT HAVE ROTTED ON ACCOUNT OF BEING PLANTED TOO EARLY IN COLD WET GROUND.
